

WASHINGTON BOYS

JAIL PRISONERS

Laurel Locks Failed to Hold Them.

LADS RUN AWAY FROM HOME

Police Sergeant Arrests Them in Maryland as Suspicious Characters.

Four youngsters who ran away from their homes in Northwest Washington yesterday and were locked up at Laurel, Md., last night, were among the missing this morning.

The lads were William Harvey, of 313 First street northeast; James Burns, 415 K street northeast; Steven Gleason, 225 Massachusetts avenue northeast, and another youngster who said, "I live at 225 K street northeast but I won't tell my name." The other boys were asked to tell the name of the lad but they refused, saying they were sorry that they told their own.

The boys were members of a "gang" which "hung out" near the corner of Fourth and K streets northeast, and each talked the others into believing that there really was a good reason for running away from home. Yesterday morning the lads rose exceptionally early and met at their "hanging out place."

Each Carried a Bundle.

Each carried a little bundle under his arm, evidently containing a clean shirt, stockings, handkerchief or collar. About 4 o'clock they walked into Laurel, Md., twenty-one miles from home, with no money or friends. They were walking at a brisk rate, and all were whistling, "As We Go Marching Through Georgia."

Sergeant Kaiser, who had been talking to another man in front of a grocery store, saw the caravans moving in a main street, and thought there was need for investigation and hurried after the boys.

They led him a merry chase up the street, but were finally cornered at a pump, where they stopped to get a drink of water. The boys were questioned, but refused to answer.

Kaiser concluded that he would have to do some Sherlock Holmes work to get at the bottom of the matter, and started off by looking them over from head to foot. On their shoes he saw some red clay.

"Who told you that?" inquired Dr. Watson Harris.

A Little Deduction.

"Nobody. The kind of mud you have on your shoes can't be found anywhere except Hyattsville. I saw it there this morning when I looked at the new sewer they're building."

"Why not say we're from Hyattsville?" he was asked.

"Nope. You look like you have brains, so you must have come from some place other than Hyattsville. But I will say you boys slept in your clothes all night."

"How do you guess it?"

"Can't I see the wrinkles in your trousers and coats, and those feathers on your backs. And can't I see you've got clean shirts in those bundles?"

A citizen was called to assist Kaiser, and they took the boys to the lock-up. The lads made a verbal and physical protest at first. They were finally ushered into the little frame lock-up, and told that the door would be fastened and key thrown away if they did not tell their names. This produced the desired effect, and between their hysterical sobs they told their names and addresses. One of them was obdurate and held out to the last, and it is not known what his name is.

Kaiser telephoned to Washington that the boys had been taken into custody and their parents could get them if they came to Laurel to get them.

Birds Had Flown.

This morning the parents of the boys went to Laurel and Kaiser met them at the station. They walked to the lock-up, Kaiser opened the door and said: "There they are in there."

The locks on the doors had been picked, but no needles were found on the floor. Nor was there anything else that would give the slightest clue as to how the trick had been turned. Kaiser said that the boys returned to Washington empty handed. It is thought the runaways continued on their journey away from Washington, because Kaiser searched and no trace of the youngsters could be found.

DEATHS OF A DAY

Prominent Church Worker Dies After Long Illness

Mrs. Keatley Martin Johns, wife of Walter R. Johns, of 127 T street northwest, and widely known in church circles, died yesterday morning at her home as the result of a long sickness.

Mrs. Johns was born in Strattonville, Pa., in 1856, but came to Washington when only three months old. She was the daughter of Thomas R. Martin, of this city. She was educated in the public schools of Washington.

In 1881 she was married to Walter R. Johns. She is survived only by her husband. For a number of years Mrs. Johns has been superintendent of Foundry Methodist Episcopal Church Sunday school, and all her life has been active in church work.

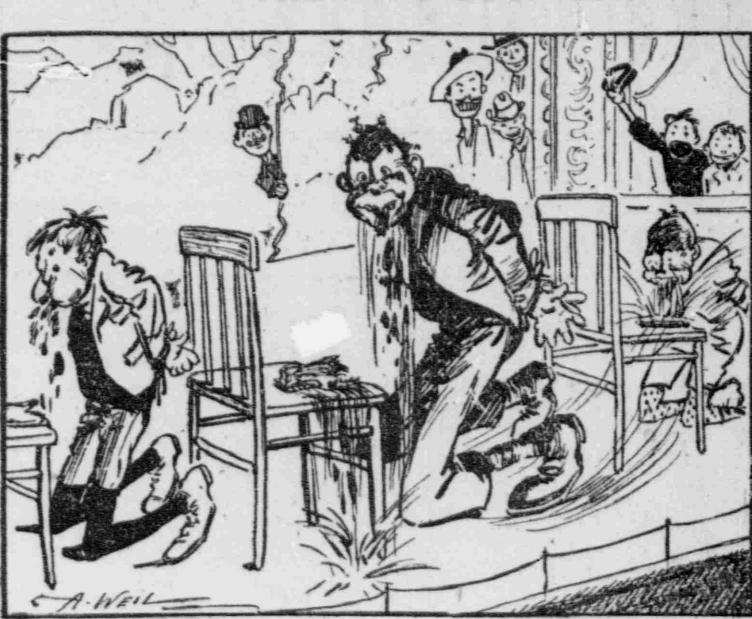

The funeral will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from Foundry M. E. Church. The Rev. R. M. Moore, pastor, will officiate, assisted by the Rev. H. R. Naylor, presiding elder, the Rev. Dr. Doney, of Hamilton, and the Rev. J. A. Price, a former pastor.

The music will be in charge of John H. Nolan, of the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, who will sing a solo. The pallbearers will be George W. F. Swartzell and Mark A. Watson, of Hamilton Church, and Theodore Harding and Herbert Buell, of Foundry. Mrs. E. Flynn Corman and David L. Sandoe, Interment will be in Rock Creek Cemetery.

DEATH RECORD.

The following deaths were reported at the Health Department within the past twenty-four hours: Adams, Robert C., 61; Allison, Albert C., 23; Brooks, Ida, 25; Boswell, Henry A., 23; Barnes, Eva, 19; Branner, John R., 2; Clark, Blanch, 13; Cook, Ed T., 46; Daly, Frank, 27; Fox, Charles W., 47; Gray, James S., 38; Greenwell, Cora, 34; Gay, Adolphus, 24; Jordan, Roy A., 8; Johns, Keatley M., 39; Keays, Henry, 37; Karl, Augustine, 77; Keady, Elizabeth A., 33; Miller, Sidney C., 38; Moseley, Marshall, 35; Payne, Lavania M., 36; Palmer, Susie, 24; Palmer, William W., 70; Pennington, Mildred, 20; Reed, Virginia, 7 months; Rhodes, Elizabeth, 41; Smith, Samuel, 63; Shepherd, Simeon, 61; Schumate, James H., 68; Taylor, Henry, 62; Wright, Bernard L., 63.

WHEN THE GONG SOUNDED THE BOYS GOT VERY BUSY

ATE PIE IN A HURRY AND WON TOURNAMENT

Harvey Cosley Devoured Dainty Morsel in Exactly Nine Minutes—Youthful Black Boy With Big White Teeth Was on Long End of Money.

Each Carried a Bundle.

Each carried a little bundle under his arm, evidently containing a clean shirt, stockings, handkerchief or collar. About 4 o'clock they walked into Laurel, Md., twenty-one miles from home, with no money or friends. They were walking at a brisk rate, and all were whistling, "As We Go Marching Through Georgia."

Sergeant Kaiser, who had been talking to another man in front of a grocery store, saw the caravans moving in a main street, and thought there was need for investigation and hurried after the boys.

They led him a merry chase up the street, but were finally cornered at a pump, where they stopped to get a drink of water. The boys were questioned, but refused to answer.

Kaiser concluded that he would have to do some Sherlock Holmes work to get at the bottom of the matter, and started off by looking them over from head to foot. On their shoes he saw some red clay.

"Who told you that?" inquired Dr. Watson Harris.

A Little Deduction.

"Nobody. The kind of mud you have on your shoes can't be found anywhere except Hyattsville. I saw it there this morning when I looked at the new sewer they're building."

"Why not say we're from Hyattsville?" he was asked.

"Nope. You look like you have brains, so you must have come from some place other than Hyattsville. But I will say you boys slept in your clothes all night."

"How do you guess it?"

"Can't I see the wrinkles in your trousers and coats, and those feathers on your backs. And can't I see you've got clean shirts in those bundles?"

A citizen was called to assist Kaiser, and they took the boys to the lock-up. The lads made a verbal and physical protest at first. They were finally ushered into the little frame lock-up, and told that the door would be fastened and key thrown away if they did not tell their names. This produced the desired effect, and between their hysterical sobs they told their names and addresses. One of them was obdurate and held out to the last, and it is not known what his name is.

Kaiser telephoned to Washington that the boys had been taken into custody and their parents could get them if they came to Laurel to get them.

Birds Had Flown.

This morning the parents of the boys went to Laurel and Kaiser met them at the station. They walked to the lock-up, Kaiser opened the door and said: "There they are in there."

The locks on the doors had been picked, but no needles were found on the floor. Nor was there anything else that would give the slightest clue as to how the trick had been turned. Kaiser said that the boys returned to Washington empty handed. It is thought the runaways continued on their journey away from Washington, because Kaiser searched and no trace of the youngsters could be found.

DEATHS OF A DAY

Prominent Church Worker Dies After Long Illness

Mrs. Keatley Martin Johns, wife of Walter R. Johns, of 127 T street northwest, and widely known in church circles, died yesterday morning at her home as the result of a long sickness.

Mrs. Johns was born in Strattonville, Pa., in 1856, but came to Washington when only three months old. She was the daughter of Thomas R. Martin, of this city. She was educated in the public schools of Washington.

In 1881 she was married to Walter R. Johns. She is survived only by her husband. For a number of years Mrs. Johns has been superintendent of Foundry Methodist Episcopal Church Sunday school, and all her life has been active in church work.

The funeral will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from Foundry M. E. Church. The Rev. R. M. Moore, pastor, will officiate, assisted by the Rev. H. R. Naylor, presiding elder, the Rev. Dr. Doney, of Hamilton, and the Rev. J. A. Price, a former pastor.

The music will be in charge of John H. Nolan, of the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, who will sing a solo. The pallbearers will be George W. F. Swartzell and Mark A. Watson, of Hamilton Church, and Theodore Harding and Herbert Buell, of Foundry. Mrs. E. Flynn Corman and David L. Sandoe, Interment will be in Rock Creek Cemetery.

DEATH RECORD.

The following deaths were reported at the Health Department within the past twenty-four hours: Adams, Robert C., 61; Allison, Albert C., 23; Brooks, Ida, 25; Boswell, Henry A., 23; Barnes, Eva, 19; Branner, John R., 2; Clark, Blanch, 13; Cook, Ed T., 46; Daly, Frank, 27; Fox, Charles W., 47; Gray, James S., 38; Greenwell, Cora, 34; Gay, Adolphus, 24; Jordan, Roy A., 8; Johns, Keatley M., 39; Keays, Henry, 37; Karl, Augustine, 77; Keady, Elizabeth A., 33; Miller, Sidney C., 38; Moseley, Marshall, 35; Payne, Lavania M., 36; Palmer, Susie, 24; Palmer, William W., 70; Pennington, Mildred, 20; Reed, Virginia, 7 months; Rhodes, Elizabeth, 41; Smith, Samuel, 63; Shepherd, Simeon, 61; Schumate, James H., 68; Taylor, Henry, 62; Wright, Bernard L., 63.

MARTIN RE-ELECTED TO THE U. S. SENATE

General Assembly of Virginia Unanimous in Choice.

UNABLE TO BE PRESENT

Old Dominion's Junior Representative in Upper House Confined to Hotel With Cold.

RICHMOND, Va., Jan. 23.—The legislature today elected Thomas Staples Martin as United States Senator to succeed himself. Senator Henry T. Eickham, of Hanover, presented the name of the present junior Senator in the upper house, while a similar pleasant service in the lower branch was performed by Hon. Richard E. Byrd, of Winchester.

Senator Martin was absent, as had been expected, to acknowledge his gratitude for re-election. He is sick in his hotel in Washington, suffering from a distressing case of whooping cough. He and both his two children are confined to their room by the same malady.

Overwhelming Majority.

Senator Martin was re-elected by an overwhelming majority, as practically no opposition was made by the Republican faction. There was much disappointment among the members as well as regret that the Senator was unable to be present.

When Milburn was able to go to the Police Court to testify against his assailant Judge Kimball sent Cloyd to jail for eleven months and twenty-nine days.

Captain Boardman was today informed of Milburn's death, and told of the Third precinct asked him if they should arrest Cloyd on a charge of murder. District Attorney Baker was consulted about the matter, and he declared that Cloyd could not be held for the death of Milburn because he had served time for assaulting the man, and the latter's death did not occur within a year and a day after the assault.

When Milburn was able to go to the Police Court to testify against his assailant Judge Kimball sent Cloyd to jail for eleven months and twenty-nine days.

Captain Boardman was today informed of Milburn's death, and told of the Third precinct asked him if they should arrest Cloyd on a charge of murder. District Attorney Baker was consulted about the matter, and he declared that Cloyd could not be held for the death of Milburn because he had served time for assaulting the man, and the latter's death did not occur within a year and a day after the assault.

ALEXANDRIA NEWS NOTES

WASHINGTON TIMES BUREAU, ALEXANDRIA, VA., JAN. 23.

WOMAN ARRESTED IN CURTAIN CASE.

Lena Bloom, who formerly resided in North Lee street, in this city, but who a week ago moved to Washington, was arrested yesterday for the possession of a stolen curtain.

The woman is held at police headquarters under instructions of Commonwealth Attorney S. G. Brent, who suspects that she knows in whose company George Curtin was the night he was murdered.

The woman, however, disclaims any knowledge of the crime, and avers she knows nothing as to Curtin's movements on the night in question. She also claims that she had made arrangements to move to Washington before Curtin was murdered, and that she did not go to that city in order to escape being a witness.

Charles Rotering Dies.

Charles F. Rotering, a native of Germany, died at his home, 407 South Alfred street, this morning. Mr. Rotering was sixty-two years of age and was a sign painter by trade.

Cake and Apron Sale.

The Junior Daughters of the Mary Custis Lee Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, will hold a cake and apron sale at the Lee Camp Hall, in Prince street, next Thursday afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock.

Club Holds Dance.

The members of the Y. M. C. L. Dancing Club gave a delightful dance at their hall, in Duke street, last evening. The club will give several dances during the season.

Charter for Auto Company.

The State Corporation Commission has granted a charter to the Rock Creek Auto and Wagon Works, of Alexandria. The officers, of whom are from Washington, are as follows: President, T. O. Proby; treasurer, J. Barton Miller; secretary, E. S. Shoemaker. The objects of the company are to repair and store automobiles, carriages, etc., and the capital stock is fixed at $30,000.

Will Relieve Fauquier Judge.

Judge Louis C. Barley left Alexandria today for Fauquier county, where he will preside over the session of the circuit court of that county, during Judge Nicol's absence in Richmond.

Rev. W. L. Lock Preaches.

Revival services are still in progress at the Methodist Episcopal Church South. Last evening the Rev. W. F. Lock, of Mt. Vernon Church, Washington, occupied the pulpit. Tonight the Rev. J. S. Hutchinson will preach.

To Cure a Cold in One Day.

Take Laxative Mucous Quinine Tablets. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. Grove's signature is on each box, etc.

LAW SAVES MAN FROM FACING SERIOUS CHARGE

Alleged Victim in Assault Case Dies After Series of Peculiar Happenings.

While on his way home last night Frederick Milburn, colored, fifty years old, was taken with an epileptic attack. He was taken to the Emergency Hospital last night, where he died half an hour later.

Coroner Nevitt made an investigation. He discovered that Milburn's skull had been trepanned, and inquiry developed the fact the man was hit on the head with a club by Elias Cloyd, also colored, on March 10, 1904. The two had engaged in an altercation in time kilns in Georgetown and both were severely injured. At the Emergency Hospital the physicians made a hard fight to save Milburn's life, and finally had to operate and remove the pressure of the skull on his brain and then trepan it.

When Milburn was able to go to the Police Court to testify against his assailant Judge Kimball sent Cloyd to jail for eleven months and twenty-nine days.

Captain Boardman was today informed of Milburn's death, and told of the Third precinct asked him if they should arrest Cloyd on a charge of murder. District Attorney Baker was consulted about the matter, and he declared that Cloyd could not be held for the death of Milburn because he had served time for assaulting the man, and the latter's death did not occur within a year and a day after the assault.

When Milburn was able to go to the Police Court to testify against his assailant Judge Kimball sent Cloyd to jail for eleven months and twenty-nine days.

Captain Boardman was today informed of Milburn's death, and told of the Third precinct asked him if they should arrest Cloyd on a charge of murder. District Attorney Baker was consulted about the matter, and he declared that Cloyd could not be held for the death of Milburn because he had served time for assaulting the man, and the latter's death did not occur within a year and a day after the assault.

When Milburn was able to go to the Police Court to testify against his assailant Judge Kimball sent Cloyd to jail for eleven months and twenty-nine days.

Captain Boardman was today informed of Milburn's death, and told of the Third precinct asked him if they should arrest Cloyd on a charge of murder. District Attorney Baker was consulted about the matter, and he declared that Cloyd could not be held for the death of Milburn because he had served time for assaulting the man, and the latter's death did not occur within a year and a day after the assault.

When Milburn was able to go to the Police Court to testify against his assailant Judge Kimball sent Cloyd to jail for eleven months and twenty-nine days.

Captain Boardman was today informed of Milburn's death, and told of the Third precinct asked him if they should arrest Cloyd on a charge of murder. District Attorney Baker was consulted about the matter, and he declared that Cloyd could not be held for the death of Milburn because he had served time for assaulting the man, and the latter's death did not occur within a year and a day after the assault.

When Milburn was able to go to the Police Court to testify against his assailant Judge Kimball sent Cloyd to jail for eleven months and twenty-nine days.

Captain Boardman was today informed of Milburn's death, and told of the Third precinct asked him if they should arrest Cloyd on a charge of murder. District Attorney Baker was consulted about the matter, and he declared that Cloyd could not be held for the death of Milburn because he had served time for assaulting the man, and the latter's death did not occur within a year and a day after the assault.

When Milburn was able to go to the Police Court to testify against his assailant Judge Kimball sent Cloyd to jail for eleven months and twenty-nine days.

Captain Boardman was today informed of Milburn's death, and told of the Third precinct asked him if they should arrest Cloyd on a charge of murder. District Attorney Baker was consulted about the matter, and he declared that Cloyd could not be held for the death of Milburn because he had served time for assaulting the man, and the latter's death did not occur within a year and a day after the assault.

When Milburn was able to go to the Police Court to testify against his assailant Judge Kimball sent Cloyd to jail for eleven months and twenty-nine days.

Captain Boardman was today informed of Milburn's death, and told of the Third precinct asked him if they should arrest Cloyd on a charge of murder. District Attorney Baker was consulted about the matter, and he declared that Cloyd could not be held for the death of Milburn because he had served time for assaulting the man, and the latter's death did not occur within a year and a day after the assault.

When Milburn was able to go to the Police Court to testify against his assailant Judge Kimball sent Cloyd to jail for eleven months and twenty-nine days.

Captain Boardman was today informed of Milburn's death, and told of the Third precinct asked him if they should arrest Cloyd on a charge of murder. District Attorney Baker was consulted about the matter, and he declared that Cloyd could not be held for the death of Milburn because he had served time for assaulting the man, and the latter's death did not occur within a year and a day after the assault.

When Milburn was able to go to the Police Court to testify against his assailant Judge Kimball sent Cloyd to jail for eleven months and twenty-nine days.

Captain Boardman was today informed of Milburn's death, and told of the Third precinct asked him if they should arrest Cloyd on a charge of murder. District Attorney Baker was consulted about the matter, and he declared that Cloyd could not be held for the death of Milburn because he had served time for assaulting the man, and the latter's death did not occur within a year and a day after the assault.

When Milburn was able to go to the Police Court to testify against his assailant Judge Kimball sent Cloyd to jail for eleven months and twenty-nine days.

Captain Boardman was today informed of Milburn's death, and told of the Third precinct asked him if they should arrest Cloyd on a charge of murder. District Attorney Baker was consulted about the matter, and he declared that Cloyd could not be held for the death of Milburn because he had served time for assaulting the man, and the latter's death did not occur within a year and a day after the assault.

When Milburn was able to go to the Police Court to testify against his assailant Judge Kimball sent Cloyd to jail for eleven months and twenty-nine days.

Captain Boardman was today informed of Milburn's death, and told of the Third precinct asked him if they should arrest Cloyd on a charge of murder. District Attorney Baker was consulted about the matter, and he declared that Cloyd could not be held for the death of Milburn because he had served time for assaulting the man, and the latter's death did not occur within a year and a day after the assault.

When Milburn was able to go to the Police Court to testify against his assailant Judge Kimball sent Cloyd to jail for eleven months and twenty-nine days.

Captain Boardman was today informed of Milburn's death, and told of the Third precinct asked him if they should arrest Cloyd on a charge of murder. District Attorney Baker was consulted about the matter, and he declared that Cloyd could not be held for the death of Milburn because he had served time for assaulting the man, and the latter's death did not occur within a year and a day after the assault.

When Milburn was able to go to the Police Court to testify against his assailant Judge Kimball sent Cloyd to jail for eleven months and twenty-nine days.

Captain Boardman was today informed of Milburn's death, and told of the Third precinct asked him if they should arrest Cloyd on a charge of murder. District Attorney Baker was consulted about the matter, and he declared that Cloyd could not be held for the death of Milburn because he had served time for assaulting the man, and the latter's death did not occur within a year and a day after the assault.

When Milburn was able to go to the Police Court to testify against his assailant Judge Kimball sent Cloyd to jail for eleven months and twenty-nine days.

Captain Boardman was today informed of Milburn's death, and told of the Third precinct asked him if they should arrest Cloyd on a charge of murder. District Attorney Baker was consulted about the matter, and he declared that Cloyd could not be held for the death of Milburn because he had served time for assaulting the man, and the latter's death did not occur within a year and a day after the assault.

When Milburn was able to go to the Police Court to testify against his assailant Judge Kimball sent Cloyd to jail for eleven months and twenty-nine days.

Captain Boardman was today informed of Milburn's death, and told of the Third precinct asked him if they should arrest Cloyd on a charge of murder. District Attorney Baker was consulted about the matter, and he declared that Cloyd could not be held for the death of Milburn because he had served time for assaulting the man, and the latter's death did not occur within a year and a day after the assault.

When Milburn was able to go to the Police Court to testify against his assailant Judge Kimball sent Cloyd to jail for eleven months and twenty-nine days.

Captain Boardman was today informed of Milburn's death, and told of the Third precinct asked him if they should arrest Cloyd on a charge of murder. District Attorney Baker was consulted about the matter, and he declared that Cloyd could not be held for the death of Milburn because he had served time for assaulting the man, and the latter's death did not occur within a year and a day after the assault.

When Milburn was able to go to the Police Court to testify against his assailant Judge Kimball sent Cloyd to jail for eleven months and twenty-nine days.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

is more than a fat food. There is no animal fat in nourishing and building up the wasted, emaciated body. That is why children and anæmic girls thrive and grow fat upon it. That is why persons with consumptive tendencies gain flesh and strength enough to check the progress of the disease.

SCOTT & BOWNE, 409 Pearl Street, New York.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

ON SATURDAY, January 23, 1906, between 5:30 and 6 o'clock p. m., an elderly lady while crossing at Sixteenth and streets northwest, was run over by a brougham carriage, the occupant of which, a lady, removed the injured person to her home at Stoneleigh Court. Will the owner or occupant of this carriage, or any person knowing the same, kindly send their name and address to A. B. C. Times office.

I HEREBY give notice that I, Morgan Royce, did on November 17, 1905, sever my connection with the firm of Royce & Ricketts, and am in no way responsible for its debts.—(Signed) MORGAN ROYCE.

OFFICE OF THE WASHINGTON GAS LIGHT COMPANY, January 18, 1906. The annual meeting of the shareholders of the Washington Gas Light Company for the election of directors and for such other business as may properly come before said meeting, will be held at the office of the company, 413 Tenth street northwest, MONDAY, FEBRUARY 5, 1906, at 12 O'CLOCK M. The polls will be open from 12 o'clock noon, to 1 o'clock p. m. WILLIAM B. ORME, Secretary.

STARTING JAN. 1, 1906, THE BALTIMORE STAR will be served by carrier each morning daily and Sunday, 35 cents a month. Daily alone, 25c a month. Address all orders to W. S. SMITH, agent, or Baltimore Bureau, 1317 F st. n.w.

WE BIND MAGAZINES. All kinds. Prompt, satisfactory work at lowest prices. 25¢ hard and flexible binding. Letters ruled to order. Binding, order, lettering, etc. Geo. E. Howard, 714 12th St. PRINTER, ENGRAVER and BOOKBINDER.

SCHOOLS AND COLLEGES.

Strayer's Business College. 1114 and F sts. n.w. Best instruction. Day and Night Sessions. Books and Stationery Free. Situations Guaranteed. Charges small.

PRIVATE DANCING LESSONS, 40 cents; guarantee wait, two-step, five lessons; class, 10 cents. Special rates club; piano, 25c; quick, mod. method. Address, with stamped envelope, BOX 52, Times office.

The Berlitz School of Languages. 72 14th St. N. W. A. G. Bond, Frana. Grand Prize, St. Louis Exposition, 1904. French, German, Spanish, Italian, Russian, etc. Native teachers.

HALL-NOYES DAY AND NIGHT PREPARATORY SCHOOL. Both sexes; all ages. Prepares for colleges. Catalogues free. Do not lose. FRANCES MANN HALL, A.M. Principal, 221 E. N.W. Telephone Main 297-12.

Established 1864. Mr. & Mrs. L. F. W. Stuber. BUSINESS COLLEGE. Corner 9th and D sts. n.w. Washington, D. C.

Olney School, 1132 18th STREET, N.W. Facing Connecticut Ave. Frana. Academic, College Preparatory. Fully equipped Athletic Court, with instructor. Miss Virginia M. Dorsey, Miss Laura Lee Dorsey.

The Improved Imperial Screw Ledger. Saves labor, time, and expense. Insures speed and accuracy. Adaptable to ledger, cash supply of journals, cash books, purchase records, day books, invoice books, stock books, order books—in fact, wherever it is desired to separate current work from dead matter. Always in stock—no delay. Inspection invited.

R. P. Andrews Paper Co. Everything in Paper and Stationery.